Bargaining Bulletin #64

Saturday, June 13, 2009

Your committee worked until late last night and continues informal discussions with the company today on a variety of topics. We are working to narrow the differences, but progress is difficult with discussions centering sometimes on a single word, and is being hampered by the company's reluctance to provide proposals in writing. Discussions will continue through the weekend.

Now is not the time to slack off. Pump it up! Create as much chaos as possible. It is your involvement that clearly tells the company that you demand a fair and just contract.

Your continued effort to make sure all your work is done safely and with 100% quality, along with your participation in mobilization events, is essential for continued movement at the bargaining table.
